

Grade: 3 Q Category: Measurement- Word problems Q Sub Category: Volume and Capacity Worksheet #: 158Q

Solve the following.

1. Jack has a water bottle that can hold 500 milliliters of water. How many liters is that?
2. Lisa has a jug that can hold 2 liters of juice. How many milliliters is that?
3. The capacity of a small fish tank is 3 liters. How many milliliters is that?
4. Emma has a container that can hold 250 milliliters of paint. How many liters is that?
5. John has a bucket that can hold 1.5 liters of water. How many milliliters is that?
6. A bottle of shampoo contains 350 milliliters. How many liters is that?
7. Sarah has a can of soda that holds 250 milliliters. How many liters is that?
8. Tom has a jar that can hold 800 milliliters of honey. How many liters is that?
9. A juice box contains 200 milliliters of juice. How many liters is that?
10. Emily has a pitcher that can hold 1.2 liters of lemonade. How many milliliters is that?

Grade: 3 Q Category: Measurement- Word problems Q Sub Category: Volume and Capacity Worksheet #: 158A

1. Jack has a water bottle that can hold 500 milliliters of water. How many liters is that?

Answer: 0.5 liters

2. Lisa has a jug that can hold 2 liters of juice. How many milliliters is that?

Answer: 2,000 milliliters

3. The capacity of a small fish tank is 3 liters. How many milliliters is that?

Answer: 3,000 milliliters

4. Emma has a container that can hold 250 milliliters of paint. How many liters is that?

Answer: 0.25 liters

5. John has a bucket that can hold 1.5 liters of water. How many milliliters is that?

Answer: 1,500 milliliters

6. A bottle of shampoo contains 350 milliliters. How many liters is that?

Answer: 0.35 liters

7. Sarah has a can of soda that holds 250 milliliters. How many liters is that?

Answer: 0.25 liters

8. Tom has a jar that can hold 800 milliliters of honey. How many liters is that?

Answer: 0.8 liters

9. A juice box contains 200 milliliters of juice. How many liters is that?

Answer: 0.2 liters

10. Emily has a pitcher that can hold 1.2 liters of lemonade. How many milliliters is that?

Answer: 1,200 milliliters