"The Adventure of Little Blue"

In a town not far from the sea,
Lived Little Blue, wild and free.
Every morning, with the sun's first light,
He'd flit and fly, a splendid sight.
Mountains tall, rivers wide,
Little Blue traveled far and wide.
He met Mr. Fox with a bright red coat,
And Mrs. Sheep, with her lamb in tow.
In the woods, he found a bear,
Who was looking for honey, here and there.
Little Blue said, "Let's find it together!"
And off they went, light as a feather.
Onward to the shimmering lake,
Where Miss Swan was having a bake.

Cookies, cakes, and pies galore,
Little Blue had never seen such a store!
As night drew near, stars did appear,
Little Blue felt a tiny tear.
He missed his home, his cozy bed,
And the soft pillow where he laid his head.
But he knew, with each new dawn,
Another adventure would be drawn.
With friends old and new by his side
Little Blue was ready for the next ride.
