Reading

6/10 Disney's new obsession of making original animated films into live action movies has gotten out of hand. This has led many other animating companies such as DreamWorks to follow in the same direction, referencing its hit movie, How to Train Your Dragon. All of this is due to Disney. The Mouse House is to transform its classic movies into CGI animated live action films. The lack of creativity will ensure that there will be more and more animated movies turned into live action films. 84 words
