What I got wrong (5/20)

- 4. A is correct as it mentions his “superhuman powers” and how he can keep his landowner comfortable that he enjoyed in Lahore
- 5. C is correct as Nawabdin is showing his employer that all this hard work for him has caused him weakness and he is apologizing. Instead of leaving, he is asking his employer to release him which shows loyalty and diligence
- 7. B is correct since Nawabdin is feeling like being released and a solution is to get the motorcycle. To keep Nawab, he buys him the motorcycle
- 9. A is correct because it mentions “to the disgust of farm managers, Nawab received a brand-new motorcycle
- 26. In the context of “making half the plants more fragrant by tucking dimethoxybenzene-treated swabs” it is implying change or alteration
- 31. The answer is B. As stated in the last paragraph, it says “provide a reason that Texas gourd plants never evolved to produce a stronger scent
- 32. Choice D states says “The new results provide a reason that Texas gourd plants never evolved to produce a stronger scent” which restates the answer to question 31
- 36. Choice D is correct. Previously he states that everyone should follow the law but in lines 24-28, he states even though everyone should follow the law, that doesn’t mean every law is good. This corrects a misunderstanding of Lincoln’s argument
- 37. A is correct as he says even if there are bad laws, they should be “religiously observed” which is another way of saying “regularly followed”, further supporting his argument.
- 39. C is correct as in lines 58-59 it says if there are unjust aspects of the government, you should “let it go, let it go” meaning to endure it.
- 40. C because despite the disagreements, Lincoln and Thoreau both are on the same line of following or not following good/bad laws.
- 41. B because Lincoln believes in following all laws whether they are good or bad. A, C, and D say that Lincoln would allow it as it is a good response to a bad law/situation which is the complete opposite.
- 42. D because both authors show the situation either as an example or calling out other people
- 43. C as the passage is presenting different parts of solar panels. It goes from cost all the way to the new technology. This most likely presents a journalist covering the field
- 48. B because it answers the previous question by stating “the light reflects to the back so the energy could be harvested to increase power output.
