

Reading Passage: My Journey to Becoming a Soccer Player(Autobiography 1)

Hi, my name is Alex, and I love playing soccer! I was born in a small town with my mom, dad, and little sister. When I was five years old, I saw my first soccer game on TV. The players were running fast and kicking the ball into the goal. I knew right then that I wanted to play soccer too.

My parents bought me my first soccer ball for my sixth birthday. I practiced every day in our backyard. I pretended I was in a big stadium with thousands of fans cheering for me. My dad taught me how to dribble the ball and my mom helped me practice shooting goals.

When I was seven, I joined a soccer team at school. My coach was very nice and taught us a lot about the game. We practiced every week and played games on weekends. I loved being part of a team and making new friends.

One day, we had a big game against another school. I was nervous but also very excited. During the game, I scored my first goal! My teammates cheered, and I felt so proud. We won the game, and I got a special trophy for being the best player.

Now, I am ten years old, and I still love soccer. I practice every day and play on a team. I dream of becoming a professional soccer player one day. Soccer has taught me to work hard, be a good teammate, and never give up on my dreams.
