Intro:

There are many little things that a person can do which can help the environment. A <sup>good</sup> ~~great~~ example of this is using a reusable cloth towel instead of a disposable paper towel. A cloth towel is more sustainable, eco-friendly, and lasts longer than a paper towel.

When you are using a disposable cloth towel, it is only for one use. Therefore, it takes up space in landfills and releases a toxin called methane, which is 24 times more dangerous to the environment than carbon dioxide. Also, paper towels support deforestation as more trees are being cut down to produce them. However, with a cloth towel, it is sustainable as you can reuse it many times, and it does not harm the environment ~~as much as paper towels do.~~

Paper towels are also more expensive in the long run. Since they are one-time use, you have to keep on buying them, which leads to it being costly in the long run. On the other hand, with cloth
